OHM:TV STOCKS UP SPANISH OFFER ADDING NPB AND SITCOM TO ITS CATALOGUE

Cologne and Barcelona based sales and distribution company ohm:tv has increased its Spanish distribution portfolio by adding two more international catalogues to its current distribution venture, it was announced today by Hans Spielthener, Managing Director, ohm:tv.

ohm:tv has exclusive distribution rights for the entire Sitcom Group's catalogue which includes more than 600 hours of high quality programming covering cooking, travel, life style, adventure and cars & motors. The Sitcom Group is one of the top independent Italian publishing companies creating and producing specialized television channels including four pay tv channels distributed via satellite in Italy - Leonardo, Alice, Nuvolari and Marcopolo.

Distribution rights have also been secured with NPB Sales, the international sales department of Netherlands Public Broadcasting. NPB Sales represents all Dutch Public Broadcasters and a number of independent Dutch producers and specializes in selling documentaries but also offers a selection of current affairs titles, drama and youth programmes.

NPB Sales internationally successful and award winning documentaries include the Backlight series produced by Dutch public broadcaster VPRO Television and "Welcome to North Korea" by KRO Television.

Hans Spielthener, Managing Director, ohm:tv commented, "With these new programmes we are once again strengthening our position as one of the best providers of documentaries, current affairs and music programming to the Spanish market. We are delighted to be distributing NPB's and Sitcom's products and strongly believe in their potential for success. We are currently in final negotiations with other European Public Broadcasters to extend our services on the Iberian Peninsula”.

By adding the NPB and Sitcom catalogues, ohm:tv is now handling a number of independent catalogues as well as the entire programme catalogue offered by Austrian Public Broadcaster ORF and German commercial broadcaster RTL II.
